

SPECIAL ONE-NIGHT ONLY SCREENING OF AWARD-WINNING FILM NARRATED BY WILLIAM BALDWIN

February 5, 2015, 7:30 p.m. Harkins North Valley 16
3420 E. Bell Road, Phoenix, Arizona

Climate engineering (aka geoengineering) is the single largest environmental threat our planet faces today. LOOK UP! is the first film to shine the light on this critically urgent topic. Narrated by William Baldwin, the multiple award-winning documentary features interviews with Presidential Science Advisor John Holdren, Dane Wigington, Harvard Professor Dr. David Keith, Former FL Speaker of the House Tom Gustafson, and the highly successful Thrive Movement's founders Kimberly and Foster Gamble.

Director George Barnes stumbled on climate engineering while testing a time-lapse camera rig for the Volkswagen Beetle launch campaign in his front yard in New Jersey. He accidentally played the footage backwards and was shocked at what he saw: the entire white overcast sky was being created by jets flying in a grid pattern, leaving white trails that didn't dissipate, but rather expanded to form a thin white cloud cover. Within hours of doing research, he learned that what he witnessed was the unregulated, untested science of climate engineering.

LOOK UP! is the first-ever issue-based film to integrate an award-winning mobile app enabling education as well as instantaneous viewer activism that, to date, has resulted in 500K petitions being sent to users geo-located legislators Twitter feeds.

This is a movie-on-demand program.

For the screening to be guaranteed, please reserve your ticket(s) by Jan. 26.

You can do this by going to this link: <http://gathr.us/screening/10102>